Charley Murphy has never been what you might call the reigning favorite of his playmates. No one has ever accused him of being the most deeply beloved figure in baseball, but lately it seems that he is coming in for a degree of unpopularity and disesteem that might almost amount to mob violence. His treatment of Johnny Evers has made him about as popular in Chicago as a rainy holiday. Fans in large groups and bunches are gathering around and discussing the affair in words that seldom break into print. A movement has started in Chicago to boycott the Cubs and root for the Reds. Other major league managers are planning to consider Murphy's case and mail him a letter full to the brim with warm and snappy phrases. It isn't at all unlikely that there will be a rather unpleasant little row among the magnates following this trial of Murphy's. It must be that about this time Charley wishes he was back jerking soda water in Cincinnati, his function when he started out a poor and humble boy.

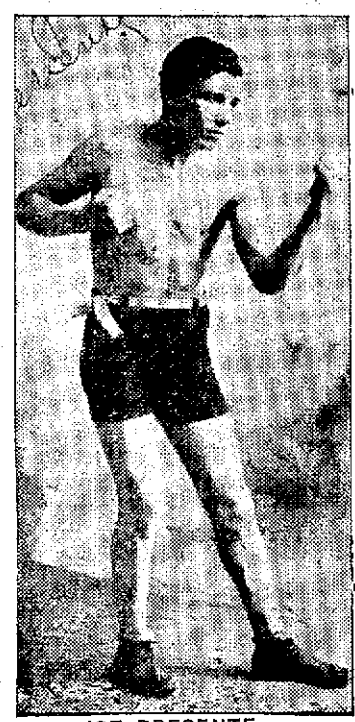

George Chip packs a neat little punch that is a great help to him in his chosen profession but he has another attribute that is almost equally valuable. He has a real fighting face. Not every prize fighter by any means has what would be called a good fighting face. Of course the average person thinks that the countenance of all fighters, porch-climbers and thugs alike are cruel, hard and depraved. However, the point here is that a certain cast of features found occasionally on capable fighters prove a big advantage to them in their fighting. Johnny Kilbane, Mike Gibbons and Tommy Murphy are a few others who have the faces that indicate a good hardy belligerency and a pugnacious nature. They all have the same thing in common. Yet none of them are tough or roughers. In fact in private life they are amiable and peaceable little persons yet they have the inborn love of fighting. Many fighters have gone to the end of a hot and scrappy career and never acquired what would be called the face of a fighter. Frank Brine and Jimmy Britt, both ex-champ lightweight fighters, never resembled professional fighters in their appearance and behavior and would never have been taken for such. Then again there was Tom Sharkey whose high cheekbones and underslung jaw showed him to be a scrapper once and forever. Of course there are persons outside of the ring who look the part of the roughest of the battler and yet they'd scream for help if you growled real rudely at them.

In spite of the fact that he has a sore heel, a New Orleans sidestepper in mid-season form. However, Willie's so agile at sidestepping that he must do most of it on his toes. And if he doesn't have a cane he'll stub a toe shortly and be in a pretty mess.

BOXERS IN TRAINING FOR BIG BOUTS HERE ON THURSDAY NIGHT

Schaffer and Russell Working Out in Chicago.—Sharkey in Hard Training at Milwaukee.

Reports show that the fight artists who are to appear at the first exhibition of the Bower City Athletic Club at the Myers Theatre on February twenty-sixth are hard at work getting into trim at the big training quarters in Milwaukee and Chicago. The club has secured the services of Dan Hyde of Milwaukee as referee, who is noted for his skill in handling bouts and making the men box and not stall. Willie Schaffer is putting hard licks at the training work in Chicago and Gordon Russell, who is to battle Joe Precente, the Madison Italian, in the preliminary, is training with the preliminary. Schaffer is training with Walter Bauman, the Milwaukee slugger, declares that his work in O'Connell's training quarters in Milwaukee has placed him in fine fettle to give Schaffer a lacing when the referee puts them in action in the Janesville arena. Both Schaffer and Bauman have about an equal record and their match here should settle the question who is the better man. These ringmen have declared to the Janesville directors that they had made the weight and were tuning up for a sensational tussle.

Word from Madison shows that the fans of that city expect that Joe Precente will be in condition to put Gordon Russell to the test in their six round bout, and that the Madison Italian will have plenty of home town backing when against the Rockford boy next Thursday. Russell should be in fine shape training with the experienced Schaffer. He has been in the game for several years and the Capitol City fans declare that he has yet to receive a bad trimming.

Young Sharkey of Milwaukee is putting in his time training for his bout with Bud Corbett of Burlington at Waukegan Bay, near Milwaukee, and wrote the club managers that he would be in Janesville on Tuesday, down to weight, for putting on the finishing touches with his conditioning. Young Ward, heralded as the Beloit heart, is working for his go here with the Milwaukee boxer as if his life depended upon it, for the Line

FREEPORT SEEKING W. I. LEAGUE BERTH

Application for Wausau's Franchise Will Be Considered.—Playing Season Opens May 6.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Feb. 20.—The directors of the Wisconsin-Illinois Baseball League voted yesterday afternoon to open the playing season May 6 or 7 and close on Sept. 13—the Sunday after Labor day. The old schedule of 126 days was retained, the movement for 140 days acquiring little support. The transfer of the Fond du Lac franchise to Marinette-Menomonie was ratified. George Hubser of Freeport, Illinois, presented an application for the franchise held by Wausau, Wisconsin. No action was taken, but President Frank Roberts will call a meeting in ten days to consider it. The playing schedule was not touched at yesterday's meeting.

ABRAHAM AND RATTERY ROLL OVER A THOUSAND IN LAST NIGHT'S GAME

Abraham and Rattery hit the highest score made in the city bowling tournament at Miller's alleys last night, when they knocked down a total of 1050, placing them at the lead of the contestants. Jacobson and Mahn, rolled 849, while Lee and Weave went a hundred points higher with 961. In the singles Grove hit 414 for individual high man in the tournament. Tonight the Miller's five roll the Federals, who have five big prizes, who jumper contracts and signed with the outlaws. The biggest prize that the Federals have hooked away from the Majors is Dr. Stewart Richards, when they signed him up at an enormous price over his league at last night. Bowling fans are watching the strength of the Federals and the outlaws promise to give Miller's a run for the pennant in tonight's game.

In the billiard tournament the best match of the tourney was run off last night when Sculman was defeated by Quinn by a lone point after the two players had put up a merry battle for the lead through the contest. Rich mounted in the percentage column by trimming Quinn by twenty-eight points and Buchholz Dickerson defeated Reilly, who was handicapped, 150 to the winner 140, by thirty-one points.

Doubles: Last Night's Scores. Jacobson, Mahn, 849; Lee, Weave, 961.

ELKHORN CONFIDENT OF DEFEATING HIGHS

Both Janesville and Neighboring City Fives are Bidding for Honors.—Close Contest Predicted.

Janesville high school state title hopes are at Elkhorn tonight, where they meet the high school five from that place in a game which may to a certain extent set conditions in the southern section of the state.

The highs were put through a tedious practice yesterday afternoon, which lasted fully two hours. The entire squad put in an appearance and each member was reported to be in good condition for the battle tonight. Captain Hemming never felt better in his life, while Stewart has a nose now just as good as new. Stickney's rib is somewhat weak yet, but he will make the trip and be called upon if needed. Rau has recovered from his cold, while Atwood and Dalton are primed for the battle. Barnes will be the seventh man on the trip.

With the entire squad in such good condition, the highs should cop off a victory with ease. As Elkhorn have not defeated by Racine and Burlington it is evident that they are not the team that the rumors make them to be. They are confident, however, tonight, and believe they can trim Janesville, and his is the third time the game has been scheduled this season, and Janesville have the idea that Elkhorn are not going to take any chances tonight.

STAR PILOTS START IN BIG COAST RACE

Famous Speed Drivers of East And West To Race For Vanderbilt Cup Over Santa Monica Course.

Racing driver, of the east and west contest for supremacy and Vanderbilt cup and prizes over the famous Santa Monica race course in California today and motor fans attention is centered on the result as it is expected the pilots will shatter the road race record at a rate better than seventy-one miles per hour.

The Santa Monica course, which is noted for its speed and today's race is for a distance of 264 miles, or thirty-five laps. Starting at the outskirts of the ocean resort of Santa Monica, the course swings in a wide ellipse to within a dozen miles of Los Angeles and back to the starting point along a high palisade overlooking the Pacific. The course is second only to the Elgin track, in road racing, and is regarded as safe but for one spot, "death curve," where several pilots have met death. The American road race record was made by Teddy Tetzlaff over the California course two years ago, when he set the mark at over seventy-eight miles per hour. In addition to the famous Vanderbilt cup, the winner will get three thousand dollars in cash. The Grand Prize race will be run Monday over the same course.

The race today held the interest of the motor fans as the star pilots of the east and west will compete with several foreign "space eaters." Grant, who is the only driver to win the Vanderbilt twice, will pilot an English Sunbeam while his mechanic Marquis will drive the Italian Isotta, which failed to show speed at Elgin last year under Grant's handling. The Sunbeam is expected to be the speediest creation the English factory ever turned out and Grant expects to win back the prize cup. The Mercer team with Wishart, Eddie Pullen and Barney Oldfield, former speed king, promise to push their famous yellow speedsters to the front for the prize money. De Palma has quit the Mercer team and will pilot a German Mercedes, a car that he has had great success with. The case have entered a formidable team with Eddie Herne and Disbrow as star drivers. The west is pinning their faith in Earl Cooper, who has won nearly every important race in the west during recent years and "Terrible" Tetzlaff the most daring driver in the game at present.

Since walloping Joe Rivers at Milwaukee some weeks ago, Ad Wolgast, the Cadillac farmer, has insisted that he is back in his old stride, and since Ritchie is rapidly becoming too heavy for the lightweight class it would surprise no one should Ad become champ again.

Furnish to my duty as commissioner of highways. I wish to call the attention of the board to the urgent need of crushing and screening outlets in order that the best material the county may be rendered available for road purposes. We have built some roads the past season out material that ran over 50 per cent sand and when there is ideal material close at hand, except that it ran too coarse to use without crushing, or when the coarse table stones were taken out of it it cost too great a percentage of sand, crushing the result would have rendered roads several times valuable in efficiency and entirely satisfactory to the public. Equal benefits might be obtained in the construction of rock roads when gravel not obtainable for top dressing. No other county in the state is attempting to build roads without crushers.
It is wasteful to build roads out of material that is lacking in metal because such roads are never satisfactory, but they are short lived and expensive to maintain.

In conclusion your commissioner wishes to thank all those who co-operated with him the past season, and looking forward to a promising season this year, your commissioner wishes the co-operation of all those who may be concerned. There will be no lack of effort on the part of the commissioner to get the best results circumstances will permit. I hereby most respectfully submit this report your body.

man.

Mr. Moore resumed the reading of his report.

Referred to Committee No. 6.
Supervisor Treadway submitted as follows:

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of Rock County:

Gentlemen:

Your committee No. 6 wishes to report as follows: That they have examined the report of the county highway commissioner as to the money received aid for the improvement of roads for year 1913 and find them and other bills pertaining to the county highways to be as set forth in the detailed report of the commissioner.

Your committee wishes to say further that they have inspected the work done in the several towns during the year 1913 and we find a marked improvement in every feature the work as to construction of the grades and preparation of the sub-grades, the selection and handling of the material and the business methods of dealing with the contractors, and we commend the work and believe there is little chance for improvement until rock crushing and screening outfits, as recommended by the commissioner, have been provided.

Respectfully submitted,
B. D. TREADWAY,
H. B. MOSELEY,
THOS. A. STEELE.

HAVE COLOR IN YOUR CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets.

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—no appetite—poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy no good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

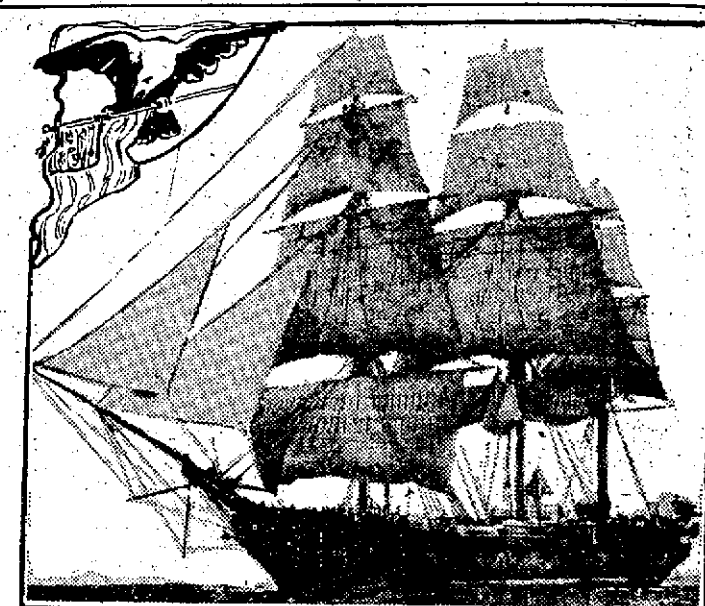

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

If you want a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects. They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box.

Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O. All druggists.

CANAL ZONE POLICEMEN.

An unusual problem has been solved in policing the Panama canal zone. One of the most cosmopolitan populations in the world has been gathered in Panama. The workmen are obliged to live very close together. Many weird stories are told of crime and violence on the isthmus in the old days. With the coming of the Americans, however, all this was changed. A large, well disciplined force of policemen have patrolled the zone, and life and property have become as safe as in any part of the United States. Two typical members of the zone police are shown in uniform in the accompanying illustration. The photograph was taken recently by a tourist on one of the cruises of the Hamburg-American liner Victoria Louise. It is said that a criminal never long escapes the police on the zone, as it is impossible to get away. The jungle which borders the zone on either side is impenetrable, and not even the most desperate criminal dares to chance his escape in their direction.

Rear Admiral Victor Blue started the movement in his report to the secretary of the navy to bring the historic old fighting craft from Newport, where it is now anchored.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

HOW TO SET A HEADSTART.

THERE are times when I wonder how men can fall in love with women. Now do not think I am a traitor to my sex, for these times are only when I realize that men seldom see women as they really are.

Take a group of young girls laughing and talking among themselves—how sweet, charming and unaffected they are! But let a man enter the room and behold the change! Naturalness flees, and artifice and their best self when they are trying to appear at their best. Which is an entirely different thing.

I did not know that men ever realized their misfortune in this matter until the other day. Then a man told me the following experience: "When I was on one of my business trips last summer," he said, "I met an old friend of my father's. He asked me to come out and see his place the next day which was Sunday, and insisted that I come early in the day and have a good home breakfast. I was particularly glad to go for I was sick of hotel food, and I had heard that he had a beautiful home and two charming daughters. I reached his home rather earlier than I intended to and the Colonel sent out word that I was to be taken to the summer house in the apple orchard to wait for him.

As I lay there in the hammock getting up a fine appetite for the coffee that smelled as good as the apple blossoms to me, I could hear the Colonel's two daughters chatting together, evidently while they were dressed. They plainly didn't know I was there and they were chatting back and forth to each other and laughing and singing, all so prettily that I fell in love with them both. It seemed to me they must be the most charming girls I ever knew. I ever knew who tries to be as natural as possible, has a big head start in the race, if I may be undignified enough to call it that.

I suppose it is psychologically impossible for a woman to be perfectly natural in the presence of the other sex, but the girl who tries to be as natural as possible, has a big head start in the race, if I may be undignified enough to call it that.

"Well, I suppose you wonder why I'm not there yet. I'll tell you why. Because I pleaded a dinner engagement which I didn't have and left in the middle of the forenoon. I was so disappointed I couldn't bear to stay. You see I never met the girls I heard upstairs. The moment they saw me they were different girls. Not sweet and natural as the sisters I heard talking to each other. Not just other girls, trying to make an impression. 'Isn't it too bad a man never sees girls the way they really are, Miss Cameron?' They're so much more attractive that way."

To those girls who would not accept my opinion in this matter because I am only a woman, I present this man's viewpoint. Incidentally they may be interested to know that he is an unusually likeable, man and one whose admiration most women would be happy to have.

I suppose it is psychologically impossible for a woman to be perfectly natural in the presence of the other sex, but the girl who tries to be as natural as possible, has a big head start in the race, if I may be undignified enough to call it that.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am the mother of a daughter of eighteen. She is keeping company with a very nice young man and has her consent to an engagement between them. This young man is twenty-one. My objection is that I think my daughter is too young and not of a decided mind. She has a com- about every evening that No. 1 and I have always made a pet and companion of her. She has been a home girl, but seems to be attractive and has several admirers. She seems to be thin everything of this young man and he of her. What is your advice as to this matter?

Before going with this young man she is keeping company with another gentleman whom she seemed to like very much. When the second young man started coming here No. 1 kept on coming for a while, but No. 2 was here so much—every afternoon and about every evening—that No. 1 quit coming. But every time he sees my daughter he tells her is still waiting and goes with no one else, but keeps away from here. No. 2, of course, takes advantage of his absence and tells my daughter he doesn't care for her as he should or he would come, and is teasing for an answer to his proposal so he can save up for the future. I have talked with my daughter and she says she has told No. 2 to let things stand as they are for a while, but he doesn't care to try. AN ANXIOUS MOTHER.

Suppose you give your consent conditionally; that if they are of the same mind a year from now you will give them your blessing. That will give both of the young people time to discover whether or not they are fitted for each other. If your daughter has been well treated by you and is physically healthy, I see no objection to her marrying a respectable young man who loves her and can support her. Whatever you do stay good friends with your daughter and keep her confidence.

The and your mind is "quitter." If he really wanted to marry your daughter he would have persisted in spite of the second man.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have an Alice blue messaline waist. Was at a party I got quite a large beer spot in it and also some kind of grease spot. Could you tell me with what I could remove them? Water does not take it out and gasoline removed the spot some, but left a big ring on it.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.
To take ink out of linen, dip the spots in hot tallow and wash out the tallow. The ink is washed out at the same time.
If the ink is well wrapped in oiled paper it will not impart a flavor or odor to the other foodstuffs in the refrigerator.

If the bright parts of the kitchen range turn black from heat, dip a cloth in vinegar and rub on the blackened parts.
Salt fish are quickest and best freshened by soaking in sour milk.

THE TABLE.
German Coffee Bread.—One cup of scalded milk, one-third cup of butter or lard, one-quarter cup of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one egg, one-third yeast cake dissolved in one-quarter cup of lukewarm milk, one-half cup of raisins stoned and cut in pieces. Add the butter, sugar and the salt to the milk; when lukewarm add the dissolved yeast cake, egg well beaten, flour to make a stiff batter and the raisins; cover and let rise over night. In the morning spread in a buttered dripping pan one-half inch thick. Cover and let rise again. Before baking brush over with beaten egg and cover with the following mixture: Melt three tablespoons of butter, add one-third cup of sugar and one teaspoonful of cinnamon. When the sugar is partly melted add three tablespoons of flour. Irish Stew With Dumplings.—Wipe and cut in pieces three pounds of lamb from the forequarter. Put in a kettle, cover with boiling water and cook about two hours on a oil tender. After cooking an hour add one-half cup each of carrots and one onion in slices. About fifteen minutes before serving add four cups of potatoes cut in four inch slices, previously parboiled five minutes in boiling water. Thicken with flour and water. Season with salt and pepper. Serve with dumplings.

Custard.—Scald a quart of milk in a double boiler and stir into it a bit of soda. Beat five eggs light with a half cupful of powdered sugar and whip into them five tablespoons of melted butter. Pour the scalding milk upon this mixture, return it to the fire in a double boiler and cook, stirring constantly until it thickens and coats the spoon. Remove from the fire and flavor with a teaspoonful of vanilla. When cold, pour into custard cups or glasses and heap sweetened whipped cream upon the top of each.

Rice Croquettes With Jelly.—One-half cup of rice, one-half cup of boiling water, one cup of scalded milk, one-half teaspoonful of salt, yolks of two eggs, one tablespoon of melted butter. Wash the rice, add to the water with the salt, cover and steam until the rice has absorbed all the water. Then add the milk, stir lightly with a fork, cover and steam until the rice is soft. Remove from the fire, add the egg yolks and butter; spread on a shallow plate to cool. Shape in balls, roll in crumbs, then again in the crumbs, fry in deep fat and drain. Put a cube of jelly in each croquette. Arrange on a folded napkin and garnish with parsley.

EVERYDAY TALKS FOR EVERYDAY PEOPLE
BY FRANCES JOYCE KENNEDY.

When Adam, through the curiosity of Eve and his own lack of the right sort of will was disbarred from Eden, Eve willingly followed him. The Eve of today has accepted of this practice ever since. A woman's nature is to stand in the shadow cast by a man; not some man, any man, but her mate. If some men would brace up and stand in the shadow large enough for a woman to stand in, we might be relieved of much of the advice handed out to us, telling us just how to live.

This is no help at all to the men! The sexes may engage in rivalry at each other it may sometimes grow too keen-edged in its intent, but every intelligent fair-minded person admits that we want and have each other in all sexes of life. A man, in the world, don't want to live without women, nor do women in the world want to live without the aid of men.

As the Creator started this earth (Darwin to the contrary), the chains of things was right and long-haired men and manly women can and do rise up and tell us how things ought to be, the fact remains the same that the men and women who live as near the plan that God gave as they consistently can are the men and women who, living, make the world worth while.

What most of us need is a realization of the word duty. The definition of life as we want to live it can be given in two words, joy-life. We want to have our cake and eat it, oh, we want the men want to be free as air, unshackled to roam where fancy dictates; hesitating not to take the flower of our womanhood along the way if the opportunity presents itself in ever so remote a form. A home is a thing that if they could get one at reduced rates they might consider. Some of them don't hesitate to try and crowd the other fellow out of his.

The woman want to be free as air too! Why not? When they marry they want a home that is to very last word in furniture, frills and the like. This is so the rest of the women and girls will say they have married well. Divorce is what Sherman said was. Yet the vestibule of divorce, so to speak, is filled with foolish young people who ruin if they had better furnishings in their home they would not be there. We don't aim to ruin them, but marriages means children and the man don't live, who is a man, that if he plans to marry does not have a high chair in the plan. Being fair to the women we say the same thing. That God-given instinct slumbers in the hearts of us all. The reason that the roads of life are strewn with so many homes is that the people individually do not do their duty. Home is not a question of money. Home is where the heart is. Where do you live?

The both sexes are guilty of many mistakes but the men and women who do their duty who live and let live who aim to be livable, are the real foundation of this world. Yes, and of the next.

And now—should the women vote? Yes! But the married ones should not be eligible for office until they are past forty-five, for the woman who

Women Worth While

MRS. JAMES H. BRADY.

(By Selene Armstrong Harmon.)
In Washington there is a saying that has a terrifying ring to the woman inexperienced in public life. It is to the effect that any woman who comes to the capital, if she finds herself unable to sustain a dinner conversation with a statesman, had say, it is not really as bad as all this. The fact remains, however, that an intelligent grasp of public affairs and the ability to comprehend the politics of the day, are necessary to the woman who moves in a society largely made up of diplomats, statesmen and public officials.

Few women enter public life in Washington better equipped for the demands than Mrs. James H. Brady, the young bride of Senator Brady of Idaho. She has a natural zest for politics and public questions, but she has a well trained mind. She spent three years at the University of Chicago, and after that was graduated from the University of California. She was the first woman ever awarded a diploma in political science by that institution. Here she herself takes up the rather serious interests of her girlhood, speaking with characteristic modesty and an evident reluctance.

"After I was graduated at Berkeley I went back to Chicago, which is so logical, the most interesting city in America, and became so interested in psychology and sociology at the Chicago university that I wanted some experience in social work. After looking about the city I decided that the Associated Charities of Chicago would afford more valuable opportunities to the social worker than the settlements even, so I offered my services as a friendly visitor. This is a way, as I soon found out, in which any girl can continue, in the most fascinating, practical and yet helpful, manner, the study of sociology which she has begun in a college or university. And there can be few experiences which could contribute more to the broadening of her sympathies."

Before her marriage Mrs. Brady was Miss Irene Moore of Illinois. She is a bride of six months and had never lived at the capital until after her marriage, so that the same interest attaches to her which always centers in a newcomer in Washington's official set, and in a bride the world over. She is one of five sisters and has that efficiency in housekeeping matters which somehow seem to be the rule in a big family of girls. She enjoys social life, but society is by no means one of her dominant interests. Books are Mrs. Brady loves them, and even in the whirl of a Washington season makes time for them. Her taste in reading is for history and biography. Like many women in official social life in Washington, Mrs. Brady follows a national legislation with the keenest interest. She is usually to be seen in the senate gallery when any debate of importance is in progress on the floor.

Though her interests are for the most part serious, the wife of Senator Brady possesses in a marked degree the charm of femininity. Young, clever and always beautifully gowned, she is one of the most attractive figures in Washington society this season.

That's How Some of 'Em Are Chosen. "Boobley is the most ignorant, conceited, incompetent, overbearing, tiresome person I ever met!" "That's so! Let's send him to the legislature."

IF CHILD IN CROSS, FEVERISH AND SICK
Look Mother! If tongue is coated, cleanse little bowels with "California Syrup of Figs."

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely. A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups, plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

FAIR SIZED HOUSE GREETED GOOD PLAY

"Bought and Paid For" Well Presented Last Evening at Myers Theatre.

"Bought and Paid For" was witnessed last evening by a moderately large audience, who were well pleased with the production as presented. The play itself is a good depiction of masculine selfishness in the average domestic life. Robert Stafford, the young millionaire, was acted by Frank Mills in a thoroughly satisfactory manner. His work was perhaps the best in the cast. Virginia, his wife, was not rendered with as much finesse by Grace Bryan. However, she filled the role, which is an exceedingly difficult one, with more than average talent. Pansy Blaine, the wife of the interestingly ambitious Jimmie Gilley, was well played by Margaret Williams. Her character work was rendered with a keen insight into what was expected in the role. James Gilley was not acted in a manner that approximated the work of the rest of the cast. In that role the lines would lead one to expect a young and lively man who was, perhaps, a bit over enthusiastic about his own ambitions, ideas, and worth. Charles Miller, who played this part, quite lacked that sprightliness that would have toned up the situations in the play where the strain becomes very great. His lines cannot help but draw laughs, but Mr. Miller missed many opportunities of hitting hard points that would have added greatly to his work. The place as a whole, while interesting and well handled, fell considerably below the standard set by the last drama presented here, "Within the Law."

AMUSEMENTS

THE AUTHOR'S REASON FOR WRITING "THE TRAFFIC."

"I, Agnes Berton, one of the many thousands, come out of the dark places of the world. I come up to you who are in the light, in the warm sunlight of right living, from which I have been shut out. I ask you for help. I ask you for sympathy; I ask you for interest. Through me speak all the many thousands who have gone down by the short cut to destruction."

BESS SANKEY IN "THE TRAFFIC."

struction, because we did not know the things we should have known, because those more powerful than us shut us away from the things our youth demanded, because of the love in our hearts which bid us sacrifice ourselves for those dependent upon us.

"I am not the dream child of a writer's brain; I am real; I walk among you every day; I work for you beside you. I ask each of you out there for your share of help, your share of understanding, your share of encouragement to those who are fighting our battles for us."—Prologue of "The Traffic," spoken from darkened stage.

When "The Traffic" is offered at the Myers Theatre on Tuesday, Feb. 24, these patrons seeking a sensational and salacious play will be disappointed, because this truly remarkable work of Rachel Marshall is of the simplest, a truthful, faithful depiction of what has been commonly called "white slavery," and as Ashton Stevens, the eminent critic of the Chicago Examiner, terms it, "the cleanest play of the sordid world ever written."

Among the many men and women of prominence who have publicly endorsed it is Lieutenant Governor Bartlett O'Hara of Illinois, chairman of the Illinois Senate Vice and Vagrancy commission, who says in part: "I do not hesitate to recommend 'The Traffic' to the citizenship of Chicago entirely with reservation. No clean minded young lady may remain away. It is as clean as an antiseptic bandage, no matter how unclean the ailment beneath may be." William A. Pinkerton, the celebrated detective, says: "If every American could see 'The Traffic' it would make the hardest work of the police easy." Gertrude Howe Britton of Hull House speaks enthusiastically of the good that can be accomplished by this unusual play in the cost of players presenting "The Traffic" will be found in Bess Sankey, King Strong, Edwin Levin, Ben Holmes, Eva French, Edward Hard, Marie Acoraga, and other well known players.

Classified Want Ad. Results

Last winter a man in a certain town was, without warning, laid off at the shop where he worked. He hunted for a week for work, finally landing a job (you could not call it a position) at much smaller salary than he had been getting.

That little paragraph says a great deal to the salaried men with families. It spells retrenchment. And retrenchment in the winter with the house to be heated, the children to be warmly clad, is oftentimes a difficult matter.

This man's wife was his partner as well as being his wife. She was willing to help, eager, but as they had two small babies what could she do?

However, where there is a will, a way is found. She went to town, bought a bolt of pretty light calico (by the bolt it was a cent cheaper a yard) and a perfectly plain pattern of a child's apron. She cut out six, finished them, keeping track of all materials used. Instead of hemming them she put finishing braid around the neck and arms. The bottom hem was simply basted.

Then she inserted an Ad in her home paper, that children's aprons could be had very reasonably at a store down town. She sold in one month sixty-five aprons and on each apron she cleared eleven cents.

Some of you may scoff at this. But she did this work besides her home work and the caring for her family. She did not work steadily at it either, as the pattern she used was simplicity itself and she could make six in one afternoon. Can you do as well?

Stop That Cough In A Minute

Would you give morphine or chloroform to your baby or take it yourself? Of course not. Yet most patent cough cures contain one or both. They stop a cough in a minute, which is dangerous. A cough should be cured internally by healing the lungs, loosening the phlegm, throwing it out, which is done by coughing. Badger Cough Balsam does not contain morphine or chloroform. It's made by purest cod liver oil, cod liver, lobelia, plus bark, wild cherry, etc. It cures a cough in a few days without filling the lungs with poisonous phlegm. The irritation is relieved, the lungs healed without danger of pneumonia. It's safe for children or old people. Get a bottle today for 25 cents. Badger Cough Balsam is made by Mr. Badger, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist. Badger Drug Co., Milwaukee and River St.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Daily Gazette, Feb. 20, 1874. The bed clothing used by Mr. Robbins' child while sick with the smallpox was stolen yesterday from the abandoned room that contained it.

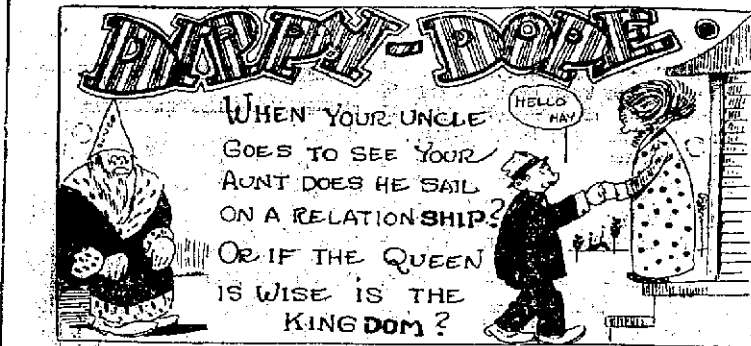

A telegram from Washington dated yesterday says that Prof. Bischoff's organ playing produced overwhelming enthusiasm. He will remain there another week.

D. A. Taylor will visit the city shortly to take orders for Lute Taylor's "Chip Basket," a collection of the choicest writings of the late Lute Taylor.

Burr Robbins and family left last night for New York, where they will remain for a few weeks.

Washington's birthday will be celebrated at All Souls church by appropriate exercises. The Bower City band will render the music.

Lewis Davis, the colored man mentioned in the letter which the mayor received from Chicago about a week ago, is still in a tangle about his proposed marriage venture. He was born a slave on a South Carolina plantation but escaped with Sherman's army. He visited Janesville with Rev. Jackson and met a local colored girl who gained his affections. But a Phyllis Davis of Chicago claims that he is already married to her, in fact that her name is not Davis at all but that she simply adopted it. The outcome is hard to determine.
